

There is no reason to expect any adverse long-term effect on healthy grass from line marking using our paint products so long as they are used in accordance with the manufacturers' instructions.

As our products are opaque, they will block some sunlight from the grass to which they are applied. The result is likely to be a slight retardation of growth immediately beneath the applied coating.

Certain species of grass may exhibit lower a lower tolerance toward improperly marked lines.

If lines are applied to any grass under stressed conditions, there is no guarantee that growth of the grass may not be affected in some way.

Our products are formulated to minimise the impact on the grass and the environment by ensuring a paint pH close to neutral (water).
